Available sessions

All the sessions available for booking. You can filter by day, session time and starting area.

Sessions open on Thursday, starting at 4PM. The calendar becomes available based on your score. You can book sessions for the upcoming week.

How to Book a Session?

Open the calendar to view the available sessions.

Select your preferred sessions and click to book them. Select any sessions you want up to a 12-hour daily limit.

Sessions marked with a  icon indicate high demand.

To check your booked sessions, click on the "Booked" tab.

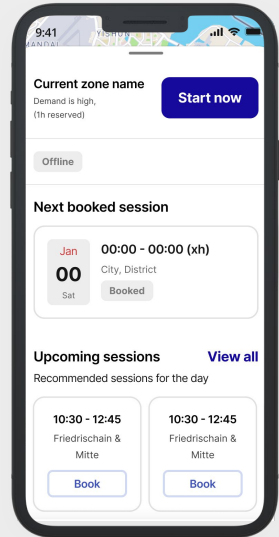

Available sessions

Sessions may be extended due to high demand in your area. You'll receive a notification when this happens, allowing you to continue delivering.

Unable to book your preferred sessions? Check the "Start now" option:

The "Start Now" option may appear due to high demand in your area. You can start delivering even if you couldn't book that session in advance!

The session will start immediately and last for 1 hour, but you can stop delivering anytime before the hour ends.

My sessions

Shows your sessions taken and completed by week.

Are you unable to attend your booked sessions?

You can swap your sessions, and other riders will be able to book them!

Go to "My session" and select "Offer Swap" to make your session available to other riders.

If you offer a swap at least 12 hours before the session starts, it will be automatically unbooked.

If offered less than 12 hours before, another rider will have to take it, otherwise, you will have to attend to avoid a no-show, which affects your score.

You can view your cash balance evolution.

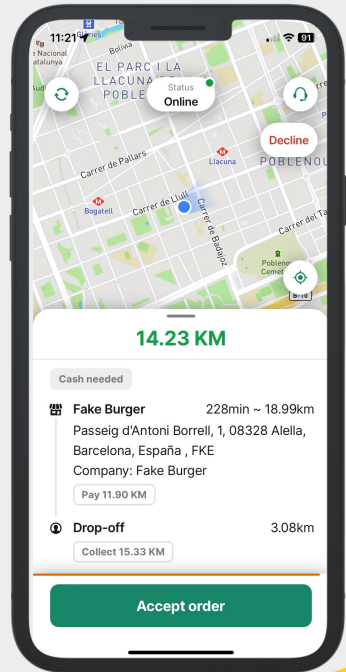

The cash balance is all the amounts received or spent in cash when delivering using the app.

When you reach your daily cash limit, you will receive a message with information on how you can deposit it.

When you receive an assigned delivery, the acceptance screen will show if you need to pay the vendor in cash.

If you don't have enough cash, you can redispach the delivery, but this will affect your acceptance ratio.

We recommend carrying some cash with you during your route in case you need to pay the vendor or give change to a customer.

Use the calendar icon to select the period you want to see.

Check your Average per hour and your Hours Online information.

You'll get paid for each delivery you make. The exact delivery fee varies per order and includes a variable distance fee.

How much you will make per order will be shown right on the acceptance screen, and this is how much your earnings for that order will be.

Scoring Batches

Current batch group. Your batch determines when you get to book your sessions

A new batch is assigned to you every week based on your scores from the previous week.

Batches are from 1 to 12. Batch 1 has the best incentive because you have the first pick of the sessions!

Sessions are open from every 30 min from batch 1 until batch 12.

Scoring Batches

How's the Scoring Batch calculated?

Actual vs Planned Hours

How many of the hours you committed to that you actually completed.

Acceptance Rate

Deliveries you accepted out of the deliveries you were assigned.

Active weeks

Number of weeks you've been actively taking sessions.

Special Hours

Number of hours connected during special hours period.

No show

Number of sessions you didn't attend without justification.

Orders completed

Number of deliveries completed.
